ROTARY GOVERNOR ADDRESSES ANNIVERSARY MEETING HERE

Eighteenth Birthday of Movement Observed With Talk by Harlan Horner Following Dinner at Eagle Hotel.

The members of Kingston Rotary Club instead of holding their weekly meeting on Wednesday as is their custom combined their weekly meeting with "ladies night" Friday evening at the Eagle Hotel when they celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of the foundation of the Rotary. The past week has been an anniversary week when all of the clubs celebrated in some way the foundation of Rotary but February 23, the day selected by the Kingston Rotarians, is the day on which eighteen years ago Rotary came into being.

Kingston Rotarians were particularly fortunate in having as their guest and speaker of the evening Harlan H. Horner, governor of the newly created 29th Rotary district in which Kingston is located. Mr. Horner, beside being governor of this district is dean of the State College for Teachers at Albany and a mighty interesting speaker.

The meeting was attended by about 90 Rotarians, their wives and friends who were served a chicken dinner in the main dining room of the Eagle Hotel. During the serving of the dinner Malsenheiser's orchestra with Paul Zucca as leader rendered appropriate music. The regular Rotary song leader, Harry P. Dodge, was present but on account of recent illness his place as song leader was given over to Ernest R. Acker. The serving of the dinner was interspersed with the usual Rotary songs. Following the regular program dancing was enjoyed.

A message to Rotary on Citizenship from President Warren G. Harding was read by Arthur C. Connelly and a message of similar nature from Frederick H. Gillett, speaker of the house of representatives, was read by the Rev. F. B. Seeley. At the conclusion of the dinner Mr. Horner was introduced by Samuel Watts and gave a most interesting talk to his fellow Rotarians. Mr. Horner is a member of the Albany Rotary Club which is known as the mother-club of Kingston Rotary and is well known by all of the local Rotarians having visited the club on several occasions and consequently his talk was looked forward to with the greatest interest. Mr. Horner spoke as follows:

Rotary has attracted the respectful notice of thinking men throughout the world. Within its own ranks and outside of them men who heartily endorse its splendid achievements and believe in its high ideals are beginning to ask whether or not it will wear and what its ultimate future is to be. It is easy enough to take an inventory of its by-products up to date. Acquaintance with one's fellows, comradeship, wholesome fellowship, keeping young in spirit and sympathy and outlook, respect for one's neighbor, belief in one's community, confidence in one's own ability as he measures himself alongside his associates—these are some of the very evident fruits of membership which come to the individual Rotarian who takes his Rotary seriously. A closely knit cooperative body organized for the free discussion of community needs, a harmonizing agency free from politics and creed, an organization with no rule or by-law, plan, precept or program concealed in any detail from the public, a democratic and genuinely cosmopolitan body representing the entire business and professional life of a community—these are some of the larger contributions Rotary has already made toward the enrichment and the healthy progress of our modern civic life.

But Rotary has done more than these things. She has given the world an example of the possibility of realizing ideals in practical fashion. There is nothing much more propitious than a mere motto. In common with hundreds of other organizations Rotary has a beautiful, high-sounding slogan which it often repeats and which it always keeps in mind. The singular fact about this Rotary slogan is that it has been carried to practical ends in hundreds of communities. Wholly disinterested observers, with the possible exception of those who write novels for the market, readily make the somewhat surprising discovery that these groups of business and professional men, now singing wildly, now serious, now gay and unconcerned, now deadly in earnest, are in actual fact held together by the attempt to reduce an ideal to a reality. If any proof were needed to sustain this statement it would only be necessary to point to what Rotary has done and is doing throughout the world for boys. Her practical program in boys' work is not limited by a precept. Her desire to serve is being practically demonstrated in almost every club in her international organization. To help boys and to help boys not to forget that they are to be men—this of itself is almost program enough for the permanent usefulness of this great movement. If any further proof were desired that busy and successful men can be banded together for purely unselfish ends it would only be necessary to point to the thousand and one activities of individual clubs in the interests of their several communities. This is not self praise although it is uttered by a Rotarian. The splendid thing about it is that the general public heartily makes the acknowledgment on all hands. In other words, Rotary has given practical demonstration of the sincerity of its motives and has gained the confidence of the public through disinterested service.

The public now asks, as we may well ask ourselves, what sort of superstructure we are going to rear upon these foundations. It is a fair question. We have done nothing that other organizations have not attempted and may not do just as well. We have no monopoly on good works. Wherever we are organized we are just a fair sample of our communities trying honestly to serve their needs. It is true that the form of our organization is unique and that adds spice and promise to our enterprises; but we shall endure for useful ends not merely because of our well-constructed foundation but through the symmetry and grace and practical purpose of our superstructure.

What can Rotary do to build for the years? It is a question she must ask herself continually. The answer will come with the years. Meanwhile it may not be amiss to speculate upon it. I venture to offer four corner stones which she may lay in her superstructure.

This old body politic has many ills. One of the most serious is a constitutional aversion to work. The other day I spent several hours in the company of three men at work who mainly use their hands to get a living. They were not skilled workmen. They work at manual labor for a daily or weekly wage. Two of them went about their work cheerfully and good-naturedly and with an evident desire to do the task assigned to them to the satisfaction of their employer though not under his observation. The third was a typical "soldier." He cursed his employer the minute he began to work. He complained of the conditions under which he had to work. He slammed things around, did nothing cheerfully, and tried his level best to infect his associates with his grouching. It was very evident that he didn't want to work at all.

That trio of workmen have since been much in my mind, and I'm wondering if they do not afford us some light on the troubles of this weary old world and of this much disturbed America of ours. I'm wondering if the diseases of our body politic, now so prevalent everywhere, are not directly due to the fact that about one-third of us believe that the world owes us a living and try to collect what we think is our due without work. My little experience the other day only serves to strengthen my belief that our industrial and economic ills are mainly due to a wide-spread unwillingness to do an honest day's work for a fair and reasonable day's wage. The guilt is not all on one side of the ledger. It cannot all be charged up against the careless workman who takes no pride in his workmanship, who deliberately slights his task, who watches the clock, and who hates his employer because forsooth he has got on in the world by working. Anybody who has occasion in these days to employ a ditch-digger, a carpenter, a mason, a plumber, or what not, knows that one in three of these workmen will not do a good job or will leave something undone, or will blame his own inability to do a given piece of work satisfactorily upon the fellow who preceded him on the same job. Do I put it too strongly? By and large that's what I hear from my neighbors who want good work honestly done.

Now let's try to be fair. Let's admit that doctors and lawyers and teachers and ministers sometimes slight their tasks. Let's admit that some employers, vastly too large a number, want a day's work from a laborer at an unreasonably low wage. Let's admit that capital has too often in the past disregarded the rights of labor and has allowed greed to dictate the terms of employment. Let's make our indictment general and admit on all hands that the good old fashioned truth seems to be this: Too many of us in all walks of life are trying to get by without honest-to-goodness work.

The situation did not arise yesterday. It's a part of the evolution of our civilization. We seem generally to be madly striving to get to the place where we shall not have to work, to make a pile and then sit down and survey it with folded hands. Our very labor-saving devices which have made modern civilization possible have in a way seemed to soften us and to steer us away from labor. We no longer cut grain with a scythe; we use the reaper and binder which lighten the task. We no longer tramp out the grain on the barn floor; we use the modern thrasher which saves time and labor. We no longer travel overland with a prairie schooner and team of oxen; we take the limited express and pay an extra fare, for it is quicker and more luxurious. Or if that does not suffice, we summon an aeroplane and travel faster than the wind. We work strenuously as a whole people to lighten work. To get from where we are, materially and geographically, to where we are not at the greatest possible speed

HARVEY DUNHAM IS CAPTURED IN CANADA; TO BE BROUGHT BACK

Will Probably Again Occupy Cell in County Jail From Which He Escaped, Disguised as Negro, "Double Crossing" Fellow Plotters in Doing So.

Sheriff Kolts, Undersheriff Haulenbeck and the other attaches to the sheriff's office and Ulster county jail were made happy today on receipt of information that Harvey Dunham, who escaped from jail on November 29, 1922, has been apprehended and is locked up in Canada. The place where he is being held is being kept quiet for the present. Steps to extradite Dunham will be started at once.

Dunham was found guilty of grand larceny in having stolen an automobile at Stone Ridge owned by a man named Barnhart of High Falls, which he took to Niagara Falls, where he was arrested, brought to the Ulster county jail, indicted, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced. While awaiting transfer to Dannemora prison with others he escaped by blacking his face as a negro and sneaking out of the jail door when it was opened by Jailor Every who was looting in some visitors' day. It had been planned by other prisoners to overpower the jailor and for the others in the plot to make a wholesale getaway, but Dunham instead of grabbing the jailor from behind as planned sneaked out and the others lost their nerve and the plot failed. Since Dunham's escape every effort has been put forth by Sheriff Kolts and Undersheriff Haulenbeck to locate him, and, naturally, they feel elated over his capture.

Mesopotamian Relics Are 1,800 Years Older Than Tut-Ankh-Amen's

Anglo-American Expedition Finds Ur Temple and Brick Wall of 3,600 B. C.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 24.—Relics much older than those found in the ancient tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen, are being dug up by the Anglo-American exploration party at work in Mesopotamia, said a Bagdad despatch to the Times today. The excavators are working under orders from the British Museum and the University of Pennsylvania. Starting near the spot where the original Garden of Eden is believed to have existed, the explorers uncovered remains of the ancient city of Ur.

They found a new temple in which the Moon was worshipped and a building which was utilized as the "Moon's harem."

A vase dated back 2,000 years before the era of Christ. Remains of a brick wall were found, which was believed to have been built in the second dynasty of Ur, about 3,600 years before Christ. This was about 1,800 years before Tut-ankh-Amen was buried in Egypt in the Valley of the Kings.

Jewelry has been found which is believed to have belonged to the period of Nebuchadnezzar, the historic king mentioned in the Old Testament.

The old barn on the Wells property at the rear of No. 106 St. James street, which was built over 100 years ago, collapsed Friday from the overweight of snow on the roof. N. B. Roberts, the owner, intended to tear down the building the coming Spring but the collapsing of the building has saved him the job.

CELEBRATE BERNSTEIN'S BIRTHDAY AT ELKS' HOME.

With a birthday cake on which 57 tiny candles were burning, 14 men, including Jacob A. Bernstein, sat around a table at the Elks' Club Friday night, and enjoyed a banquet in honor of Mr. Bernstein's 57th birthday. City Judge Harry E. Schirick was the toastmaster and all the guests spoke in flattering language of the esteem in which each held for Mr. Bernstein. There were eleven courses, the menu having been arranged and prepared personally by Mr. Bernstein and Louis W. Sapp. A flashlight picture was taken by Pennington of the banquet.

POLITICS HOLD UP CANFIELD NOW

Upstate Republicans Want Harper of St. Lawrence Named—Argue That One Ulster Man in Big Job Is Enough.

The appointment of Palmer Canfield, Jr., to succeed E. C. Yellowley as prohibition director for New York is being held up, according to department officials, because upstate politicians refuse to accept provisions imposed by Roy A. Haynes, national prohibition commissioner, that a civil service man shall be sent to New York to supervise the work of Mr. Canfield.

Mr. Haynes is opposed to appointing a man backed by political factions, but political leaders are understood to have interceded with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and insisted that they have a voice in naming the next director. Mr. Haynes agreed, attaches of the prohibition department say, to the appointment of Mr. Canfield only upon the provision that he should be ranked in authority by a man sent from Washington without whose signature no departmental documents would be recognized as final.

The naming of Mr. Canfield had already been definitely agreed upon and a telegram advising the New York department that he was to take charge early in March was received at New York city headquarters last week.

The appointment, however, is still being bitterly contested by certain upstate factions favorable to Roscoe Harper as the next director. Mr. Harper is from St. Lawrence county, while Mr. Canfield is from Ulster. The chief argument against Mr. Canfield is that Philip Elting, recently appointed collector of the port, is from the same city and that it will be unfair for two men from Kingston to be appointed to high federal offices in New York.

WHAT Y. W. C. A. MEETING IS FOR

At the mass meeting at the High School Auditorium on Tuesday evening the Federation of Women's Clubs will try to find out who wants a Young Woman's Christian Association and how badly they want it. Then, if it is found desirable, it will be necessary to ascertain whether it is the sense of the community to start out to secure an up-to-date, fully equipped Y. W. C. A., with gymnasium, swimming pool, bowling alleys, cafeteria, dormitories, etc., in order to be as far self-supporting as may be, or whether it will be a better plan to start with a few rooms and grow into the bigger needs. It is further hoped to learn, if the Y. W. C. A., is wanted, whether the best and most approved plan will be to buy a lot and build; rent and remodel a building; or rent rooms, all with the understanding of course that the same shall be centrally located.

Upon the above decision will rest the added decision as to the amount of money needed to be raised for the undertaking.

Miss Capen a member of the National Y. W. C. A. Board will be at the meeting to give needed information from the national and state end of the problem. Locally the following committees have been appointed to gather local information to be presented at the same time: Committee on membership, Mrs. de Herthof, formerly Miss Dorenius. This committee is composed of ten teams of ten members each, and Mrs. de Herthof the chairman has had considerable experience in the Y. W. C. A. work in Pennsylvania. Committee on finance, Miss Sarah Horton, chairman; committee on headquarters, Mrs. C. E. Wonderly, chairman; committee on constitution, Mrs. M. A. Weed, chairman; committee on publicity, Mrs. Maurice Safford, chairman; committee on nominations, Mrs. Arthur Cole, chairman.

The mass meeting will be called to order at eight o'clock.

ANOTHER BOY SHOT JOHNSON

Alfred Pfisterer Pointed Old Shotgun and Pulled Trigger—"Didn't Know It Was Loaded."

Pooling with a loaded gun caused the death of William Johnson, aged 13 years, who was shot and killed about 9:30 o'clock Friday morning by a companion named Alfred Pfisterer. The shooting occurred at Edward Cousins' barn, Shultis Corners, town of Saugerties, and both boys at the time were doing some chores for the Cousins family who are confined to their home by illness.

The shooting was done by an old muzzle loaded gun which the boys found in the barn, and which according to a statement made to state troopers, who made an investigation, had been loaded for the past seventeen years.

A story told in connection with the shooting is that Pfisterer after getting the gun pointed it at Johnson and said, "I'm going to shoot." He then pulled the trigger and the full effects of the charge entered Johnson's heart and he fell in a heap to the barn floor. Frenzied with fear Pfisterer called for help and Johnson was taken to Cousins house, and Dr. M. D. Downer of Woodstock summoned. Before the doctor reached the scene Johnson died. The state troopers also arrived soon after.

Coroner Conner was notified and he gave permission to remove the body. Undertaker Lasher of Woodstock taking charge. Young Pfisterer was not taken into custody, the shooting being unpremeditated and another case of "didn't know it was loaded."

Pfisterer and Johnson were playmates and the tragic event has caused a shroud of gloom to encompass the hamlet where the boys reside.—Saugerties Daily Post.

CORONER TO FIND JOHNSON SHOOTING ACCIDENTAL.

Coroner W. N. Conner, Sheriff Kolts, Undersheriff Haulenbeck and Sergeant Cunningham, state troopers, returned today noon from Woodstock, where they had been compelled to pass the night after investigating the shooting of William Johnson, near Shultis' Corners, Friday morning. Drifts on the road from Ashokan boulevard to Woodstock made their progress slow and difficult.

The coroner's party found that the Johnson boy had stepped from behind a stall in the cousins barn directly in front of the old shotgun which young Pfisterer at that moment was about to discharge out the barn door. It apparently was too late for Pfisterer to stay his finger and he pulled the trigger, the charge killing Johnson almost instantly. It is expected a verdict of accidental death will be rendered.

ANDERSON ENDS COURT TESTIMONY

Gillett and Brackett Have Until March 6 to File Briefs—League's Income $250,000 Yearly From 3,000 Churches—Priceless Church Voters' List.

Admission by William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, that circulation by the league of copies of Governor Smith's record had an ultimate political purpose featured the Friday afternoon hearing in Albany county supreme court in an action brought by five Troy residents to have the league declared a political organization, forcing it to file an expenditure of its receipts and expenditures for 1922.

Mr. Anderson's admission, made in reply to a question by Colonel Ransom H. Gillett, counsel for the Troy men, was tempered, however, by the declaration that the publishing of the Smith record had no bearing on last fall's campaign, as the league already had conceded the defeat of Nathan L. Miller.

Many secrets of the Anti-Saloon league were revealed by Mr. Anderson during his four hours on the stand. He said that the league's annual income was about $250,000 and that it received its principal support from 3,000 churches of various denominations throughout the state. The superintendent was forced to explain that the present Anti-Saloon league of New York is not incorporated, and is operating under a charter granted in 1905 to the New York State Anti-Saloon league.

Other important admissions made by Anderson are:

1. That there is a close alliance between the Anti-Saloon league and the Allied Citizens of America. The latter organization is a subsidiary of the league, organized by Anderson to carry on the field work through local committees.

2. The league has a secret list bearing between 300,000 and 400,000 names, known as the church voters' list. Anderson described this as priceless. He said that it was obtained confidentially from the pastors and that he could not give the slightest idea what it had cost to compile.

3. The league also has a list known as the alleged Republican politicians of New York State. This is the list of regular leaders whom the league has been in the habit of threatening and cajoling for the last four years.

4. The league maintains its state publication of The American Issue without knowing whether it is run at a cost or profit. From each yearly contribution of $5 or more to the league $1.50 is set aside for a subscription to The American Issue. Col. Gillett maintained that this publication was for political propaganda only.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Staley gave Col. Gillett and Mr. Brackett until March 6 to file their briefs on any further information they obtain bearing on the issue.

Col. Gillett asked that the hearing be continued today which Judge Staley declined to do.

About the Folks

Double Birthday Party.
A double birthday party on George Washington's birthday, was held in honor of the Bergman children, Sidney, six, and Edna, eight. They both received many beautiful gifts which they appreciated very much. A selection was given by Bernard Bergman at the piano and Jerome Lehr on the violin. Other piano selections were given by Milton Lehr and Leon Miller. Edna and Sidney both sang. At four o'clock the children were led into the handsomely decorated dining room. On the table were two cakes, beautifully decorated. After the children had partaken of refreshments, they enjoyed many games. These present were Edna, Bergman, Edna and Elaine Lehr, Bernard Bergman, Evelyn Mildred and Violet Rogers, Evelyn Weiner, Ethel Sevott, Francis Brown, Arthur Brown, Francis Brown, Doly, Beverly and Shirley Bergman, Eleanor Jacobson, Edna Rhinehart, Bertha Barnowitz, Dorothy, Anna and Lillian Parnett, Jackie Katz, Ruth Mufson, Mamie Stern, Helen Rothenberg, Esther, Mary, Freda and Sarah Miller, Mrs. Bergman, Mrs. Michael, Mrs. Miller, Bernard Bergman, Milton and Jerome Lehr, Sidney Bergman, Harry Abramowitz, Mason Mufson, Philip and Julius Rothenberg. The guests departed in the early evening wishing Edna and Sidney many more happy birthdays and voting them royal entertainers.

Farewell Party At Allaben.
A number of employees and officers of the Cien Contracting Corporation of Allaben assembled at the Log Cabin last Tuesday evening and tendered a farewell supper and stag party to Messrs. McLeod, MacInnes and Bravich, three of their fellow employees, who have been transferred to other jobs. Thomas F. Devaney, the popular toastmaster, sprang a big surprise on those present by unearthing some real talent right from the ranks. M. R. Keefe's after-dinner speech was a masterpiece. Art Dutch offered a Gettysburg address "Dance of the Winds" that would have made Gertrude herself envious. H. Bock, Jr., assisting at the piano. J. M. MacInnes was a scream in a recitation of his many experiences with autos and also rendered quite efficiently a few Scotch songs. Al Klett gave a ten minute monologue that elicited as much mirth and applause as a Keith headliner. E. Hines told a few interesting nature stories. Clarence Gruner rendered a few piano selections, "a la Paderewski" in fact everyone said or did something to make the affair a memorable one. A. E. Geiger, in charge of arrangements and Edward S. Ott, proprietor of the Log Cabin, were heartily congratulated for their successful efforts. The affair greatly emphasized the popularity of the departing members and the sincere good wishes of all their friends and co-workers go with them to their new fields of endeavor. Since the affair Mr. Devaney has been deluged with telegrams from theatrical managers, movie producers and opera impresarios offering contracts to his performers but it is to be hoped that such offers will be ignored and the talent retained for future occasions.

ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH OF MOSES CELEBRATED

At Temple Emanuel—Mosaic Influence For Reading.

Friday which was the seventh day of the Hebrew month of Adar, was the birthday of Moses, Israel's great law giver. February being the month in which Moses, Washington and Lincoln were born, three of the greatest and best men in history. Dr. Bernard M. Kaplan at Temple Emanuel Friday evening spoke on the Mosaic influence on the liberties and justice of the world. He quoted from colonial history showing that the Mosaic teachings greatly influenced the founders of the American Republic. Benjamin Franklin suggested as a fitting design of the United States seal a picture of Moses with uplifted rod challenging the tyranny of Pharaoh, as a tribute to the great champion of liberty who said 3,500 years ago: "And ye shall proclaim liberty in the world unto all the inhabitants thereof," which words were inscribed on America's Liberty Bell.

INCOME TAX INFORMATION

A free question and answer bureau is being conducted by The Freeman for readers who desire information on federal or state income taxes. It is personally edited by Charles A. Secor, of Secor, Ronder & Co., tax counselors and public accountants of Kingston, New York, and Washington, and all rights are reserved. All questions will be answered confidentially by letter to our readers and a two cent stamp should be enclosed for reply postage.

Loss of useful value.—When, through some change in business conditions, the usefulness in the business of some or all of the capital assets is suddenly terminated, so that the taxpayer discontinues the business or discards such assets permanently from use in such business, he may claim as a loss for the year in which he takes such action the difference between the cost, or, if acquired prior to March 1, 1913, fair market price or value as of that date of any assets so discarded (less any depreciation sustained and allowable as a deduction in computing net income) and its salvage value remaining. This exception to the rule requiring a sale or other disposition of property in order to establish a loss requires proof of some unforeseen cause by reason of which the property has been prematurely discarded as, for example, where an increase in the cost of or other change in the manufacture of any product makes it necessary to abandon such manufacture, to which special machinery is exclusively devoted, or where new legislation directly or indirectly makes the continued profitable use of the property impossible. This exception does not extend to a case where the useful life of property terminates solely as a result of those gradual processes for which depreciation allowances are authorized. It does not apply to inventories or to other than capital assets. The exception applies to buildings only when they are permanently abandoned or permanently devoted to a radically different use, and to machinery only when its use as such is permanently abandoned. Any loss to be deductible under this exception must be charged off on the books and fully explained in returns of income.

2 MORE TEACHERS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Another Secured to Fill Martin Vacancy—Teachers Told Not to Distribute Y. W. C. A. Membership Cards in Schools—Gymnasium Denied to Girl Scouts.

The board of education at its regular monthly meeting Friday evening received an application from the regional director of the Girl Scouts for the use of the gymnasium at the high school for ten successive Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, so that technical training could be given captains on various subjects. After a discussion, on motion of Trustee Gill the application was denied.

Trustee Gill for the teachers' committee reported in the matter of the necessity for securing temporary teachers for the high school, as follows: To the Board of Education: At the last meeting of the board the matter of securing temporary teachers in the high school for the balance of the school year was referred to the teachers' committee with power.

We respectfully report that upon investigation we found it necessary to use two additional teachers. We have employed Mrs. Marguerite Palacio to teach English and civics at the rate of $1,200. To help in the home-making department we have employed Miss Nellie Davenport, a graduate of Cornell University, at the rate of $1,150 per year. Mrs. Palacio is a college graduate with several years' experience in the high schools of Denver, Col.

Since the resignation of Mr. Martin, effective November first last, Mrs. Maude Haley, a former teacher in the high school at Saugerties, has been employed as a substitute in teaching algebra. Mrs. Haley's work has been satisfactory. We express our appreciation of her services and the sacrifice of time she made to accommodate us in this emergency. To take her classes we have secured for the balance of the year Robert W. Plumb, salary at the rate of $1,300 per year. Mr. Plumb is a graduate of Hamilton College and has several years' experience as principal and teacher in the high schools of this state. Adopted.

Permission was granted the Senior class to hold its dance at the high school on April 12, and to the basketball team to use the gymnasium for games and dancing on March 16 and 17, Trustees Gill and Beers were appointed by President Flemming as chaperons for the Senior class dance. Trustees Betz and Thompson (chaperons for the March 16 dance and Trustees Van Wagoner and Herber for the March 30 dance.

Trustee Betz for the finance committee reported February payroll of $2,221.85, which was audited by the board as a committee of the whole. Also bills and claims amounting to $2,509.37 were reported to be correct and audited and warrants ordered issued for payment of same. Superintendent Michael stated to the trustees that cards for membership in the proposed Y. W. C. A. had been left with the teachers for distribution among the girls. He had instructed the teachers not to distribute the cards until he had called attention of the trustees to the matter for their action. The matter was discussed. Trustee Gill saying that he did not approve of the distribution of the cards to the pupils by the teachers. Those who are fathering the movement here should see the parents of the pupils and not utilize the schools to do their work. The movers should not pass the responsibility on to others but carry out their own work. President Flemming said while the trustees favored the Y. W. C. A. there was a possibility that some of the parents might get the idea when the cards were brought home that the board of education was backing the movement by lending its assistance in the distribution of the membership application cards through the schools. Trustees Betz and Thompson were of the opinion that as the cards were to be distributed after school session the distribution of the cards would not do any harm.

Trustee Gill offered a resolution that it be the sense of the board that the teachers be instructed not to distribute in any way in the schools of the city the cards. Adopted. Mrs. Thompson voting "No." Superintendent Michael called at KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 24, 1923.

IT IS TO LAUGH.

When justice is lax how can the people be expected to revere the law? The proprietor of a candy factory in Washington, D. C., was recently arrested for operating an insanitary place. Some 4,000 pounds of candy were confiscated, kerosene was poured over it and it was burned. It had been stored where the rats were messing in it, the stock apparently being drawn on as sales demanded. The offender was fined $20 on a plea of guilty.

But this was by no means the worst of it. On the sworn testimony of the Federal food inspector it appeared that on December 15, 1920, the offender forfeited $15 for the same offense. Soon thereafter he was again apprehended and fined $10 on similar charges. Again on May 19, 1921, he pleaded guilty to a like charge and was fined $15, and a fourth time, he was fined $20 for the same thing. Five times was this man haled before court for endangering the health of his patrons, and each time he received a nominal fine. The fines in the aggregate amounted to $80 or about the value of 200 pounds of his candy sold at retail.

What a travesty of justice! To what respect are such courts entitled which, when such outrageous affronts against common decency come before them, dismiss them with mere deprecatory action? And when the offender repeatedly offends and is as repeatedly admonished, what good purpose do such anemic judges serve? They make the law a laughing stock.

As a contrast to the candy man, the case of a Pennsylvania man suggests the other extreme. This case was reported the same day. The culprit in question was sentenced to serve three years in the Eastern Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $100 for the theft of two chickens.

There are fewer details at hand concerning the chicken stealer, but it seems as if justice were blind in Washington and cross-eyed in Pennsylvania; that to endanger human life by selling rat-defiled candy were a trifling misdemeanor, while the lifting of a couple of pullets pulverized the decalogue.

Meanwhile the people will be exhorted to respect the law. Obviously there are some courts which should be stimulated to make the law respectable, by the removal of indifference judges, if necessary.

THE PORT OF THE WORLD.

The United States not only has "the gold of the world," and, despite its own troubles, is on a sound economic basis than any country of the planet, but it has the port of the world out of which sail the vessels of no less than 200 steamship lines, nearly thirty ships clearing and as many arriving every day of the year. If any other port exceeds this record, no other port has as many advantages as New York, which, according to the Nautical Gazette, is not only America's but the world's "gateway."

Discussing New York's preeminence as a port and its great natural advantages, the publication named says: "Nature gave the port of New York many wonderful physical advantages not possessed by any other port, every part of the harbor being within a few hours of the open sea, and the channel leading to the open sea is direct and deep and needs but little maintenance. The normal tidal variations are little more than four feet; Liverpool has twenty feet to contend with and London nearly as much. This tidal movement in New York is sufficient to admit clean salt water to oxidize the contamination that is poured into the harbor, but it is not enough to create swift currents or to cause any ship to delay its sailings for a favorable tide. There is scarcely any harbor delay caused by ice, and the records of the weather bureau show that New York is singularly free from interference with its water traffic by fogs."

The Democratic charge that the Republican tariff law would be a sort of Chinese wall, shutting out imports is sufficiently answered by the fact that Boston warehouses are crowded with imported wool. The tariff was fixed at a rate high enough to protect the American farmer from destructive competition, but not high enough to shut out imports entirely. Before the foreign wool can be imported either the foreign producer or the importer must pay a tax into the United States treasury. This is no more than right, for the American producer pays not only his Federal taxes but his local state, county and school district taxes as well. There is no reason why the foreign producer should be favored.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. What is meant by a ganoid fish? I saw a picture labelled that way. Very likely your picture was a sturgeon, a type of ganoid fish. So is paddlefish. Such fishes have a good deal of cartilage in their bones, and have scales on their bodies—particularly along the ridge of the back—that are hard and enamel-like. "Ganoid" comes from a Greek word meaning "brightness," and the ganoid scale characteristic of this group of fishes, gave a name to the fish as themselves.

2. What is the smallest animal in the world? Scarcest, and what does it eat?

The least shrew is the smallest known mammal. We cannot say positively what is the rarest, but blue minks, a South American rat is very scarce. Eats grasses and vegetable food. Has handsome but stiff fur, dark brown on back, with rows of white spots.

3. Can any birds but nuthatches work head downward? The nuthatch has honors for running down head foremost; but chickadees hang head down with perfect comfort, and the ruby crowned kinglet often takes this posture. The white-breasted nuthatch is credited with standing tall up, and at the same time thrusting its head forward horizontally. In Wilson's old ornithology this bird is said to roost head downward, but we cannot verify this.

RECALLS DAYS OF SKILLYPOT

The March issue of the "Scientific American" contains illustrated article on Famous Old Chain Ferry Under the heading "From Horse-Driven Ferry to Steel Bridge."

In the March issue of the "Scientific American" appears a page article descriptive of the "Skillypot" which plied the waters of the Rondout creek prior to the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge about a year ago. The article is illustrated by several photographs and drawings showing the old ferry boat, the new bridge, the interior of the engineer's "cab" and a picture of the engine and gearing which drove this quaint old craft as well as a drawing of the hull and deck. The article appears under the heading "From Horse-Driven Ferry to Steel Bridge."

Much has been said about the ferry but even today few local people know just how the ferry was operated. The article in the "Scientific American" shows a detailed working plan of the ferry and explains how the ferry operated.

The early history of the ferry is told as follows: "The opening to traffic in May of last year, of the suspension bridge over the Rondout creek at Kingston on the Hudson, sealed the fate of the 'Skillypot.' But who or what was the 'Skillypot,' and what could the owner of such a name have to do with the opening by the New York State Highway Department of a bridge across one of the rivers that fall within its jurisdiction? "The 'Skillypot' at the time of its retirement from service was believed to be the ferryboat with the longest record of active operation in this country. It is only the very old people found to be living in the district served by the new bridge, who can call to mind the time when the ancient ferry-boat was not in operation."

"There has been a ferry of some sort or other plying between Kingston and Sloatsburg, on the opposite side of the river, ever since this section of the country was settled by the early pioneers, and long before the Revolutionary war. According to tradition the original charter was granted by the Royal Governor during the reign of Queen Anne. The earliest ferry was, of course, operated by man power and propelled by oars. Subsequently, as traffic increased and the opposite sides of the Rondout creek became more thickly settled, the need for the transportation of wagons and other horse-drawn vehicles across, and the first chain ferry operated was built."

The article states that the first power ferry was by means of a chain passed over a windlass and turned by hand and as traffic increased a tread-mill operated by a team of horses was substituted. "When steam power became available, the curious craft which forms the subject of our illustrations was built; and it will be seen that in a very crude way it contained several of the elements of the large modern ferry-boats which ply the Hudson at New York City."

The following description of the method of operation is given: "The chain enters the hull below deck and passes through an enclosed wooden run-way, in the center of which are a pair of cast-iron drums, each formed with a spiral groove which was engaged by a chain. To secure sufficient friction and prevent the chain from slipping it was wound three times around the two drums. Power was supplied by a two cylinder, high pressure engine of thirty horse-power, which drove the drums through the curious train of gears. The engine and gears were placed on the floor of the boat on one side of the center line, the steam was supplied by a locomotive boiler carried on the opposite side of the floor."

A description of the deck work, familiar to all persons who have traveled over the ferry, is also given. The article goes on to say that "The clumsy crudity of these fittings carry every evidence of the antiquity of this interesting old craft." An explanation of the word "Skillypot" which is derived from the Dutch word meaning tortoise, is given by the author of the article.

JUDGE CLEARWATER SPEAKS ON SPIRITUALISM SUNDAY

At First Presbyterian Church in Albany.

The First Presbyterian Church of Albany, founded in 1673, last fall arranged for a series of Sunday evening addresses by distinguished Americans, among them President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University; President George B. Cutten of Colgate University; Rabbi Wise of New York; Dr. John H. Finley, formerly commissioner of education, now the editor of the New York Times; Frederick C. Perry of Hamilton University.

Judge Clearwater delivers the address on Sunday evening, his subject being "Spiritualism."

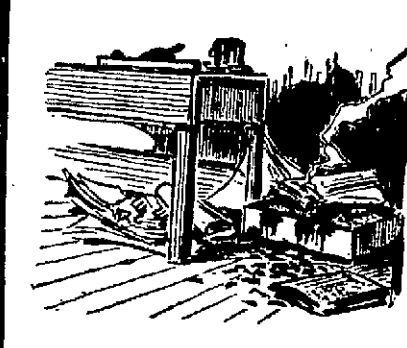

Ever since the publication in the Freeman of the Judge's letter to a number of the students of Yale University, which severely condemned Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's views on spiritualism, the judge has been showered with invitations to speak upon that subject in various cities. Always he has declined. Last October at the request of Judge Ellis J. Staley, who is a trustee of the First Presbyterian, he agreed to speak on spiritualism before the congregation of that church this winter.

Dr. Charles H. Johnson, who spoke at the First Dutch dinner on the evening of Washington's Birthday, also is an officer of the church.

at it—that is the most malignant and dangerous disease of the body politic in the world today.

Rotary comes along with its simple philosophy as old as the everlasting hills but as fresh and radiant in its matter of fact practical application as the morning sun and declares that nations are but the shadows of multitudes of men and that in their conduct with and before the other nations of the world they are therefore to be guided by the same fundamental principles that control the daily conduct of individual man. A nation like a man must work for its living and must not take what does not belong to it by force or trickery. A nation like a man must trade honestly and must distribute its finest raw-berries evenly through the box. A nation like a man must not make its place in the sun by thrusting another nation ruthlessly into the shadow and must recognize the fact that the sun is no respecter of nations and that there is room enough upon the earth for its kindly rays to reach all of God's creatures.

Rotary now carries her simple message around the world. The time has come when the age-long conflict between the will to power and the disinterested desire to serve must be fought out in the open. Practical service will keep the ground gains. Rotary is the standard bearer of service. Work hard, persistent work, honesty, with one's self and with one's fellows, square dealing in all dealing in whatever walk in life, no stacked cards, tolerance, unselfishness—these are the germs of the desire to serve with which Rotary will eventually put to rout the will to power. You and I can well be enthusiastic about Rotary. You and I can well make our humble contributions to it and put our shoulders liberally to the Rotary wheel which gains momentum for good just as the motion as we individually are willing to give of ourselves to keep it in motion.

OPEN FORUM ON SNOW REMOVAL

Chamber of Commerce Invites All Interested to Dinner Next Wednesday—What Other Places Have Done.
Because the streets and highways have been blocked by snow nearly everyone in Kingston has suffered. The merchant has found that his business has fallen off to a very great degree owing to the inability of the out of town customer to come to town; the factories have suffered because their help have been delayed in arriving at work; the doctors and pastors have found it more than difficult to make their calls; the automobile dealer has found trouble in bringing his cars to town and the coal man has been greatly delayed in making deliveries.
All of this means a great money loss also to each and every citizen of Kingston.

Some of this trouble could have been overcome had the city and county made provision for snow removal before it arrived.
If the Higher Power that controls the weather would be so kind as to keep us informed as to just when it would snow it would be an easy matter to take steps to have the equipment necessary for its removal. Not having this information at our disposal the subject becomes more difficult, but that should not make us sit back and say it cannot be done. It can be done for in several states it is being done.
A letter from Glens Falls says that their main streets are as open to traffic as they are in the summer, and that the road from Glens Falls to Plattsburgh, a distance of 120 miles, is open for auto travel. All this in face of the fact that they have had 5 1/2 feet of snow so far this winter.

The writer had occasion to drive to Hartford, Conn., on the last day of 1922. He found that the road from Millerton, N. Y., to Hartford had been plowed out the full width of the road, and that the hills and curves were sanded. The snow was fully as deep there as it was here. The trucks that accomplished this work were the ordinary dump trucks with a narrow plough attached.
The answer seems to be equipment used immediately after or during the time of the snowfall, not allowing it to accumulate.
So many comments have been made because of the bad condition of Kingston's streets and of the highways leading into Kingston that the directors of the Chamber of Commerce decided to hold a meeting to consider the subject. This meeting will be held on Wednesday, February 28, at 6 p. m., at the Eagle Hotel. Dinner will be served at $1 per plate.
This meeting is not called to criticize but rather to develop, if possible, a plan that can be recommended to the city and county officials which can be backed up by every citizen.

The meeting is open to all who wish to attend.
Tickets will be on sale at E. T. Stelle & Son, Chamber of Commerce office and at S. E. Elmhurst's. They may also be obtained at the hotel on the evening of the dinner.
Effort is being made to secure a speaker who has had practical experience with the snow removal problem.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

The Best Reading Matter Is In Bank Books.

A man who could neither read nor write applied for a job as janitor in a church. When the church board learned he was illiterate it refused him the job.

But he soon found another, and being thrifty, he saved enough to start in business and ten years later he had a large store and a bank balance of $250,000.

A chance came to him to buy the property he occupied and a friend, not knowing his worth, advised him to go to the bank and make a loan.

When he asked the bank cashier for the loan of $100,000 the cashier showed surprise and replied: "But you have a balance of $250,000 in this bank. Of course, if you would rather sign a note, we will gladly advance you the loan."

The man admitted he couldn't sign his name, so never drew out any of his money. "My goodness, man, think of it. If you can make a quarter million in ten years without being able to read or write, what would you have been had you had an education?" the cashier inquired.

"I would be a janitor in a church," replied the merchant.

Once a maid lost her hold on a strap and reclined in a bachelor's lap.

"Oh, pardon!" she cried.

"And the monster replied: "Keep your seat—I'm a sociable chap."

When a man goes to his tailor the tailor says, "that fits" when he knows it doesn't. And the man says "I'll pay you next week," when he knows he won't. Wonderful world.

There Always Is One.

One swallow doesn't make a summer, but one reckless auto driver can spoil an entire Sunday.

Don't get discouraged. It is often the last key on the bunch that opens the lock.

Bowling is twice as hard as shoveling coal in the furnace, and it takes twice as long. But there must be something about bowling that makes it popular.

Is the world getting better? Yea, every morning the mail brings letters from concerns anxious to make us a three-quarter millionaire.

They Can't Lose.

Somebody complains that there are too many lawyers and doctors in the country. Well, that's natural enough. Lawyers and doctors are about the only people who are able to collect fees for their failures.

Some of the footprints on the sands of time are pointed the wrong way.

Not That Kind?

Jud Tunkins says he thinks maybe the ex-knifer will make a good husband. Anyhow he's not the kind of man to make his wife chop the firewood.

Playing The Game.

Little Jessie was making a terrible noise while playing with brother Jimmie, so Mamma called to her:

"Gracious, Jessie, why are you shouting in that terrible manner?"

"He's got to be quiet, the way we're playing," replied Jessie. "He's Papa, coming home from the Elks, and I'm you."

SNOWSLIDES AND ICICLES MENACE STORM KING ROAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 24.—Bus lines operating over the Storm King highway, south of Newburgh, have been ordered abandoned by the public service commission whenever there is danger of snowslides.

"Conditions are reported dangerous because of the snowslides blocking the highway, and the huge icicles suspended from rocks overhanging the road," the commission says.

PHOENICIA FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION SEEKS MEMBERS

Much Real Work Has Been Accomplished by Association.

The Phoenicia Fish and Game Association, Inc., is conducting a membership drive and points with considerable pride to the work already accomplished since its organization late last spring.

Through the cooperation of members of the association and with the liberal allowance of the State Conservation Commission, and also the Federal Commission, the association last year was enabled to plant 220,000 trout. These trout were all planted with great care in the Esopus creek or in the many brooks which form its headquarters.

In addition to the fish planted, through the assistance of the Ulster County Fish and Game Association, the Phoenicia Association liberated 24 pheasants in the vicinity of Phoenicia and Woodland. On account of the late date of its organization, it was unable to secure any pheasant eggs for hatching.

An application has been made for 200,000 trout to be planted this year, and also for pheasants and pheasant eggs, the object of the association being to make the Esopus valley or Catskill Park the greatest fish and game preserve in America.

During the year the association held an outing or fly casting tournament at the public camping grounds between Shandaken and Big Indian, which was largely attended by many contestants who completed for prizes.

At present the association has 98 active or resident members, and 99 associate or non-resident members. This membership is expected to be increased largely through the present drive. Any person interested in fishing and hunting, and the preservation of fish and game in the Catskills, is eligible for membership.

During the week of April 9-14, the association will give an illustrated lecture with motion pictures at Phoenicia and the pictures will relate to wild birds, fish, game and forestry.

Officers of the association are: Al Whipple, president; Harry Clancy, vice president; David Hillson, secretary and treasurer.

Y. M. C. A. ATHLETIC EVENTS MARCH 19

The week of March 19th will be the time for this year's junior hexathlon contest at the local Y. M. C. A. This contest is part of the national contest for boys of the organization. Last year, through a mistake in membership records, the local department was placed in Class A when they should have been in Class B. The records have been straightened out. There will be several events. The contestants will be divided into five classes, 50 pound class, 95 pound class, 110 pound class, 125 pound class and unlimited. Each of these classes will have events. They are as follows:
50 Pound Class—1 lap potato race; 2 lap potato race; standing broad jump; running high jump; snap under bar, target throwing.
110 Pound Class—2 lap potato race; 3 lap potato race; standing broad jump; running high jump; snap under bar, target throwing.
125 Pound Class—2 lap potato race; 6 lap potato race; standing broad jump; running high jump; 8 pound shot put, fence vault.
Unlimited (over 125 Pounds)—3 lap potato race; 6 lap potato race; standing broad jump; running high jump; 8 pound shot put, fence vault.
Trophies will be awarded to boys getting first, second and third places. All boys scoring 600 points or more will receive a gold button, those scoring 500 or more a silver button, and 400 or more a bronze button. Mr. Miller, the physical director, is anxious to have at least fifty boys get buttons.
Those desiring to enter should sign up with Mr. Miller the next time they are at the "Y." Points will be given for attendance at practice as well as for work in the contests, so there will be possibilities of earning a button for practice.The group contests are progressing steadily, with Harvard heading the list. Cornell is at the bottom because the boys in the squad have not been getting to the games. Captain Dunn, of the Cornell team, is wishing that more from his group would come around and help him out.
Kingston to Play Newburgh.
The Kingston team of the New York State League will play the Armory Five of Newburgh at Newburgh on March 6.

AMSTERDAM WON OVERTIME GAME

At Cohoes Friday evening the Amsterdam team of the New York State Basketball League defeated the Cohoes quintet by a 43 to 41 tally. An extra period of five minutes was played as the game ended in a deadlock 39 to 39.

Referee Solodar was the eleventh man and had a hard time of it, especially when Kampmeier and Smolick staged a fist fight. Both men were put off the court. Sullivan was the high scorer with 15 points.

MATTHEWS TEAM DROPS 2 GAMES

Friday night the Gas and Electric squad took two games from the F. B. Matthews team, in addition to copying one of the coveted honor places and placing themselves up another peg in league standing. The light men rolled 16 more pins in their second game than the K. & M. made last night, so the honor position of team high score for one game goes to the Kingston G. & E. with score of 539.

COLLEGE JRS. NO MATCH FOR K. H. S.

St. Stephen's Seconds Gather 8 Points While Locals Litterally Roll Up 42.

The K. H. S. varsity scored an easy victory over the St. Stephen's second on the local court Friday evening. The first two minutes of play showed some real pep on both sides, but after that the game became a one-sided affair. The visitors failed to make a field goal until the fourth quarter. After the third quarter was in progress Kingston's making fields became a tiresome affair and the crowd began to wish for some excitement. When Powers and White made their field apiece, the Kingston spectators applauded as much as they did for Kingston. In the last two minutes of play, to satisfy the spectators, Coach "Buley" took Schmidt from the forward position and put in Tony Erna, the mascot; and Tony received much applause when he began to fly around shouting "Here, Andy." Tony did not make a field on account of the short time, but he was hailed as the star of the evening despite Corregan's seventeen points and Schmidt's six fields.

The locals took turns at shooting the fouls. Even though the game was slow, some of the passwork of the Maroon and White team was spectacular. The varsity game ended at a few minutes past nine, and the two hours following were spent in dancing with music supplied by Bott's orchestra.

Freer's Prize Omitted.

In the list of names of those who donated prizes for the progressive pinocle party held Thursday evening by the members of Franklin Lodge, K. of P., one name was inadvertently omitted. It was the name of "Bill" Freer, one of the most active and faithful members of Franklin Lodge. Mr. Freer, who is one of the popular salesmen for A. H. Gildersleeve, the Broadway produce dealer, donated a very handsome basket of fruit and flowers. The basket contained a wide variety of fancy fruits and was one of the prettiest as well as most useful prizes awarded.

Dress Up Your Home!

A high-grade linoleum floor can be made to harmonize with the decorative scheme of any well-arranged interior.

You naturally want floors in your home that look well, last long and can be easily cared for. These are virtues of Linoleum floors.

The Sanitary Floor For Every Room in the Home

IT LIGHTENS KITCHEN TASKS—Work goes easier in a kitchen made clean and bright with a linoleum floor. Such a floor can be kept polished and sanitary without taxing the frailest woman's strength.

WHAT A CHANGE IN THE BEDROOM—Don't you instinctively feel that neither dust nor dirt have any place in a refreshing room fitted with a floor of linoleum.

FOR THE DINING ROOM—An Appetizer—It's so bright and clean and far more durable and easier to clean. No need to be afraid of dropping crumbs on a linoleum floor.

AND FOR HALLS, BATH ROOMS, etc., linoleum is without a doubt the most durable, sanitary and easy to clean of any known floor.

COMBINATIONS 26, K. H. S. SECONDS 23

The faster of the two games played at K. H. S. Friday night was the contest between the local seconds and the "Combination Five." The seconds were supposed to play the Ellenville Midgets, but at the time the game was supposed to start, a telephone message came that they were stuck in the snow at High Falls, and they would arrive at so late a time that the game could not be played. Opponents were readily found in the members of the faculty-student combination that gave the seconds such a good run last week. This time the "Combinations" were aided by Brown, the gentle guard of H-Y fame, who last week held the whistle, and the score at the end of the game was in favor of the "Combination." The seconds led by one point at the end of the second half, but the fourth quarter ended in a tie of 23 all, and in the additional time the "Combinations" took the game.

The game fast throughout, with first one in the lead and then the other. "Cheese" Burger, former star forward on the varsity, held the whistle, and allowed a fast contest.
